NEWS LETTER JANUARY, 1962

WHAT'S WRONG WITH STATISTICS - FROM THE USER'S VIEWPOINT?

Chairman: Michael Amrine, Washington science writer, information consultant to ASA

Speakers: Donald B. Hadley, Financial Editor, Washington Star

Gerald Gross, Editor, Washington Report on the Medical Sciences

Claude Mahoney, writer, radio and TV commentator, specializing in agricultural data

All of the participants deal with the transmission and interpretation of statistics to the public. They have been asked to speak analytically and critically about how data-collecting agencies write and present their releases, to point out our omissions, deficiencies and needed improvements.
